Carol Fang, Business Librarian, carol.fang@wright.edu
For immediate assistance, you may also IM the library. Just click on Ask A Librarian.

BOOKS

WSU Catalog
Find books in the WSU library collection.
Watch this demonstration video

OhioLINK Catalog
If you don’t find many relevant books on your topic in the WSU library collection, you can try to find more books located in other Ohio libraries.
Watch this demonstration video

ARTICLES

Business Source Complete
Covers articles on a vast array of business topics. Includes articles published in general business magazines as well as newspapers.
Watch this demonstration video

Factiva
Covers articles published in major newspapers such as the Wall Street Journal and the New York Times.
Watch this demonstration video

VETTING A WEBSITE FOR CREDIBILITY

Pay attention to the website domain
- ✗ .com – commercial website created primarily to sell products/services
- ✗ .org – organization website often associated with a political/social cause
- 🎨 .edu – educational institution website; caution: note the author of the website
- ✔️ .gov – federal/state government website

Pay attention to the source(s) of the website content
Giving an in-class presentation is a required component in this course. If you’re a business major, you will find that in-class presentations (team or individual) will be a component in many business courses.

Using the Dunbar Library Presentation Practice Room, you (and your team members) can practice your presentation before you actually do it before your professor and fellow students. There is also a camera available in the room for you to videotape your presentation.

You need to reserve the room ahead of time. Use this online reservation system to book your room. Rooms may be booked for 2-hour blocks. For more information, please visit Presentation Practice Room.